Edinburgh, Sep 20, 2018 (Issuewire.com) - Meetings international announces with extreme cheerfulness about the Global experts meet on International Conference on Oncology and Radiology programmed on December 03-04, 2018 in Edinburgh, Scotland with a theme of “Advancements in Oncology and Radiology, different perspectives to cure cancer.”

Cancer is the world’s second disease that causes a number of deaths. More children are being affected and the disease is different from the adults. The persons who are childhood cancer survivors develop either physical or mental health problem because of the treatment they received in their childhood. From these illustrations, we can see that there is growing need for supporting the treatment for cancer and also to create more awareness among the people for early detection of cancer and research to find a suitable cure for it.

As per the UICC report, around 8 million people are dying worldwide because of cancer. As we see locally, cancer is now the most common cause of premature death in Scotland. Each year, around 29,000 people will have new cancer diagnosed and at any one time, around 150,000 people may be affected. This number will be increasing towards the end of the century due to the increase in the elderly population. Oncology 2018 will provide you with a platform to discuss the progress of research in cancer that could help humankind.
