

Eazy Treezy Inventor Pitches “Game Changing” Christmas Tree Stand on Prime Time TV

Los Angeles, CA-based entrepreneur to be featured on BBC Two’s hit TV show Dragons’ Den

Los Angeles, Dec 18, 2018 (Issuewire.com) - Eazy Treezy is “Making Christmas Easy Again” on BBC Two’s hit show Dragons’ Den. Eazy Innovations LLC founder and inventor, Ryan Wach travel across the pond to pitch his product business to the “Dragons’ Den” investors in the U.K. on Sunday, December 23 in the hopes of securing capital to grow his burgeoning venture.

“It’s been years of hard work and toil to get to this point and I’m so excited for the chance to share this amazing product with the U.K. and the world” said Inventor Ryan Wach. “I’m proud of the product I’ve been able to create and I’m excited to introduce it to the world. I see this a major step forward in making Eazy Treezy the new standard Christmas tree stand for everyone who buys a real Christmas tree during the holidays.”

Eazy Treezy offers real Christmas tree fans the ability to set-up their tree, alone, in just seconds and keep it fresh and green by making checking and topping off the water level easier than ever. Wach’s invention is described as “The Drop-In Christmas Tree Stand” because of the unique sliding jaws that self-adjust to center the tree, open, and hold it upright in one step. The other stand-out feature is the Check and Fill Spout eliminates the hassle of water management by greatly improving access to the stand’s water reservoir. Eazy Treezy’s design and function is patent pending in the U.S. and internationally.

Wach launched the new business while navigating a successful career as a mechanical engineer designing rides and animatronics for some of the happiest places on the planet. Inspired by a terrible, but common, experience of putting up his Christmas with his wife, Wach was dismayed by the lack of affordable and effective Christmas tree stands available and set out to invent his own for the masses.

Now, Eazy Treezy offers the world's fastest Christmas tree set-up.

Wach is stepping into the “Dragons' Den” in the hopes of securing an investment to grow his business and make Eazy Treezy a household name. The episode featuring Wach and Eazy Treezy will air Sunday, December 23 at 8pm GMT on BBC Two.

Eazy Treezy is currently available to purchase at EazyTreezy.com and Amazon.com for $39.99, plus shipping and applicable sales tax.
