

Poetry Book seeks to Inspire readers from all walks of life!

Shane M Gerry releases Poetry of the damned: into the fire of thought

Claremont, Dec 17, 2018 (IssueWire.com) - Shane M. Gerry started to write poetry as an outlet for the emotions he was going through. Over time, it turned into something greater — a literary embodiment of hope by which he would like to share through his debut book, “Poetry of the Damned: Into the Fire of Thought”

Marking his entry into the world of poetry, this book of poems seeks to inspire readers from all walks of life. It is about desire, God, humanity and fantasy. It talks about the problems people confront in society. It will leave the reader a raw perception of unspoken truths. It also offers many abstract, fantastical concepts, taking the reader on a thought-provoking journey that encompasses both light and darkness. In the words of the author and poet, “It is a voyage through worlds.”

An excerpt from the poem, “The Climb”:

Believe in yourself,

Abandon the doubt.

You will make it.

You will sprout.

With the publication of “Poetry of the Damned: Into the Fire of Thought,” Gerry hopes to inspire readers to write. Through the raw, unfiltered emotion in the poems, he also wants to leave them a message of hope. That “they can make it in this world.” To purchase and to know more about the book, interested parties may visit <https://www.poetryofthedamned.com/>
