ROUND ONE DEADLINE: MARCH 15TH

New York, Jan 29, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - The inaugural Next Level Small Business Competition has officially launched!

Presented by Gibson Consulting & Solutions LLC, this competition is designed to economically empower small businesses by giving aspiring entrepreneurs the opportunity to showcase their early-stage ventures. By submitting their business plans, small business owners will be able to compete for cash and year-long pro bono services valued at up to $25,000. These services will be offered by the Next Level sponsors - successful entrepreneurs, community professionals, and investors who will dedicate their time, energy and insight to provide real-time guidance, consulting, and product and service opportunities for ONE winning applicant. Hence the competition's tagline: It takes a village to grow a business.

Quite often, the Gibson Consulting team offers the only opportunity left for struggling clients who have started businesses with innovative ideas, passion and dreams -- yet without a viable business plan. "This realization has shown us how vital our efforts are in addressing the need for business planning", says Gibson Consulting's Owner, Keesha Gibson. In addition to a cash prize, pro-bono services will open the doors of creativity and leverage resources. The solution of a "Village" - a collaborative economy built around the concept of shared resources, will show the winning business that people and profits are not always in competition.

Minority-owned small businesses are strongly encouraged to apply. For more details about qualifications and sponsorship opportunities, go to www.levelup2win.com.
