

Assess Capabilities with Veritis Value-chain Assessment

Irving, Mar 6, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - As a step ahead in its portfolio enhancement, Veritis announces 'Value-Chain Assessment' part of in-house Technology Advisory Consulting services.

Speaking on the occasion, the company said that it's important for any organization to have a clear picture of its entire value-chain to achieve the expected progress.

"Continuous assessment of entire value-chain is key to the success of any firm. A clear understanding of value-chain means gaining an overall knowledge of company's financials, consumer & supply base, processes, and organizational strategies. This definitely needs to be looked upon in a multi-angle perspective," the company said in a release.

Informing about its new announcement, the company said value-chain assessment will help organizations understand their current status and plan accordingly.

With Veritis value chain assessment services in place, you can assess potential risks, eliminate non-value-adding aspects, understand the scalability of supply-chain, deal with KPIs and gauge overall capabilities.
