Mesa, Arizona, is a practice dedicated to improving patients' health and wellbeing through intelligence. Intelligence communicates through the nervous system with every cell of the body and Dr. Bigler aids this healing intelligence by correcting spinal subluxations that are interfering with the nerve flow. Subluxation is the result of abnormal separation or misalignment of the vertebrae or spinal joints, which affects the nerve communication between the brain and the body. It is a very common condition and usually occurs in women and older adults aged 40 or older.

Dr. Bigler received his Bachelor of Science (BS) degree from Brigham Young University, as well as his doctor of chiropractic (DC) degree from the Cleveland Chiropractic College in Los Angeles. Thereafter, he completed his postgraduate studies in botanical medicine, clinical nutrition, molecular therapy nutrition, and environmental stress analysis.

Dr. Bigler is a certified Lymphologist. A lymphologist is a specialist for disorders of the lymphatic system, especially the vessels and nodes. Their job is to remove tissue fluid, proteins, foreign bodies and pathogens (bacteria, viruses, etc.) in order to support the proper functioning of the veins.

Chiropractic is a form of alternative medicine mostly concerned with the diagnosis and treatment of mechanical disorders of the musculoskeletal system, especially the spine. Chiropractors, like Dr. Bigler, use hands-on spinal manipulation and other alternative treatments, the theory being that proper alignment of the body's musculoskeletal structure, particularly the spine, will enable the body to heal itself without surgery or medication.

Dr. Bigler's patients have excellent things to say about him, one stating "Dr. Ralph Bigler is the absolute BEST at adjusting the body!"
