Manchester, Dec 31, 1969 (Issuewire.com) - Hip-hop has always been the genre used to express personal opinions, views and stories to the world. And when it comes to Akawa he keeps the integrity of the genre intact by using it as a medium of communication with the world, unlike others who use it to rap about money, women and parties. The artist who is also known as Aki Akawa to his close friends and family wants to share his musical gifts with his listeners through his creations. The artist wants to change the perspective of the present generation about the genre of hip-hop through his creations. Each of the tracks is personal and is an amazing intimate vibe to it.

Akawa keeps the soundscape of his tracks diverse in nature making them perfectly suited to the lyricism of the tracks. The titles incorporated into the tracks act as an inner description. The subject matter of each of the compositions is personal and deals with a wide range of subject matter, be it going through difficulties, losing faith, or finding the motivation to rise back up. It is the versatility that Akawa brings with himself that makes his compositions so exceptional from every other composition in the industry. It is mostly the realistic elements of his tracks that attract the audiences toward him.

Akawa hailing from the United States is one of the best artists representing the country. Out of the 75 tracks he has created till now some of his creations like 'Ugh//So Much Better', 'Do You Get What

'I'm Explaining?', 'Left Right', 'I Swear To You', 'Sparkling Water', 'Space Ship' stood out the most for the audience. Each of the tracks has a depth that is brought out by the vocals of the artist. You can connect with the artist Akawa through his account on Soundcloud.
