New York City, Apr 27, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Respiratory Care Practitioner, Amy Cherry Voliva holds over a decade of experience in her field, and currently practices with Apria Healthcare Group, Inc.

Apria is focused on providing top quality service to our patients. Their ongoing self-monitoring and evaluation process ensures continual improvement in the home care experience. From order accuracy to helpful customer service, timely delivery, patient education, and equipment instruction — Apria is committed to serving with excellence.

Amy completed her associate's degree from Pitt Community College. Furthering her education she graduated with her Bachelors Degree in Healthcare Management from the University of Mount Olive. She holds certification in basic life support and is a registered respiratory therapist.

To stay up to date in her field, Amy remains a professional member of the National Board for Respiratory Care and the American Association for Respiratory Care.

The National Board for Respiratory Care's mission is promoting excellence in respiratory care by awarding credentials based on high competency standards.

The American Association for Respiratory Care (AARC) is the leading national and international professional association for respiratory care. The AARC encourages and promotes professional excellence, advances the science and practice of respiratory care, and serves as an advocate for patients and their families, the public, the profession and the respiratory therapist.

Amy remains a professional success to her personal drive to be a respiratory therapist. She was thinking of becoming a nurse and her grandfather became ill and needed care from an RRT. She wanted to learn more to be able to help him and others, so she changed from nursing to RRT and it has been a wonderful decision in her life.

When not working, she enjoys spending time at the beach.
