

The American Dream of Celebrity Designer Pamela Quinzi. Speaker for iTALK in Philadelphia.

From Italy to New York to Hollywood with a luggage full of dreams and shoes. The Cinderella of New York.

New York City, Apr 24, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - The field of leadership development has never merged expressive art forms such as monologuing, storytelling, set design, DJ beats, club nightlife scenes and music entertainment with empowering and inspirational leadership stories presented by world-class business pioneers – until now. Jen Montague, Desiree Rogers, and leaders from BET-VIACOM, Comcast, Brightside, Darkchild Entertainment, etc. on Friday, April 12th from 6-9 p.m. presented on the rooftop of the Kimmel Center in Philadelphia “iTalk”. A night of pop culture, leadership content and stage drama.

Pamela Quinzi, Oscars Awards Celebrity Fashion Designer arrived straight from Italy to be one of the speakers of the night, telling her story, about how her life changed when she decided to move to America by herself and follow her dreams. <http://pamelaquinzi.com/>

Her passion for her brand Kilame of shoes and dresses, her determination and her ability to work hard to make her dreams come true are the keys to Pamela Quinzi’s success. Pamela is a resilient spirit who arrived in the United States with no one and nothing, except for a dream. From Italy to New York to Los Angeles to the Oscars, Pamela’s journey is certainly one to behold.

She is a warrior who has won many battles over the years. She is a woman who took her life into her own hands and even though there were terrible times like the unexpected loss of her father, she pushed through. Pamela does not consider her story to be a fairy tale, even though many would say so. No, she believes it is a story about a girl that went through so much in her life and never stopped believing; a girl who worked long and hard and eventually made her vision her reality.

Fast forward to today and Pamela is a businesswoman with an established fashion brand, Kilame, a PR Company, Melapa Fashion Inc. and a web magazine, Wavesandrunways.com.

Pamela Quinzi self-published her first book ‘The Cinderella of New York’ in January 2019, available on Amazon.com <https://www.amazon.com/Cinderella-New-York-Pamela-Quinzi/dp/1793886466> her mission is to inspire others with her story so that they too will follow their dreams and never stop believing in themselves and in their passions. She was honored to be part of such an amazing event and share her story and her new book with the audience, including sharing the stage with so many extraordinary people such:

Desiree Rogers, former social secretary Barack Obama, Administration and former CEO of Johnson Publishing overseeing Ebony & JET Magazines, Ken Gibbs, Global Head of Digital & Social BET-VIACOM, Tom Spann, founding CEO Accolade Benefits Co, current CEO Brightside, Stephen Hoelper, Vice President of Product Innovation Comcast Cable, Meisha Johnson former anchor CBS Philly, Jessica Ross, Beverly Hills Actress, Publicist, TV Host, Robert T Bey, Chairman of the National Urban American Asia Trade Foundation, Andrea Agnew, Executive Director Change Acceleration Comcast Cable, Keith Donnell, President, Modern Wealth Concepts LLC.
