

Who is Steve Barbarich? His Ventures and His Mission

San Diego, Apr 30, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - Steve Barbarich started as an entrepreneur who was able to make it with his e-commerce business. At one point, it was all about finding success in a business venture. But these days, Barbarich has been synonymous to building an empire in the world of business.

Steve Barbarich made his humble beginning after finishing college in the prestigious Harvey Mudd College with a degree in engineering. With his background in engineering, he was able to explore different ideas and became an inventor. At this point, he found out all about e-commerce and how it speeds up business transactions.

At one point, he is also an author. He found decent success in writing ebooks describing the possibilities of earning money via inventions. He was even able to sell ebooks such as How to Make Money from Your Inventions and Patents. This ebook became an instant success via Amazon.com. He was also able to launch a new consumer product company, AbsolutelyNew which is a company that is known for patenting products and getting them into the market.

Building an E-commerce Empire

One of the things that made Barbarich determined to have his own e-commerce business was after a bad experience buying a product online. He was frustrated by the fact that some stores don't have a system that makes it possible for customers to have the best experience.

One of the things that he was able to focus on was customer service. He was able to build a company that prioritized customer satisfaction over anything else. It means that there will always be someone available to take the call in case there's a need to answer questions and inquiries. And more importantly, he believes in superb after-sales support and building strong relations with the customers.

Philanthropist and Environmental Advocate

Aside from being a successful entrepreneur, he was able to give back to his community. He has helped a number of individuals who were affected by natural disasters. In 2005, he was able to help people who were affected by Hurricane Rita and Ike. Steve Barbarich was able to help those who were affected by providing them with shelter, food, and clothing via his donations.

He is also a supporter of the American Red Cross. He believes in their goals in helping individuals who are caught in crisis whether manmade or of natural causes. He was able to make it a point to give back to the community as much as he can, given the reality that he believes it helps lessen the suffering of other people.

He is also known for helping women who can't afford to have a mammogram. He was able to help during Breast Cancer Awareness Month in October 2009 those women who are in these situations. He believes that a small donation can go a long way towards early diagnosis and lessening mortality rate of cancer.

These days, Steve Barbarich started a business venture that hopes to help those homeowners who want to turn their property into a legitimate source of income. He helps them transform their homes into a vacation rental that can cater to tourists of all kinds.
