New York City, May 11, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Dr Marisel Tindall is an internist in San Antonio, Texas. She received her medical degree from Universidad Central del Caribe School of Medicine and has been in practice for more than 20 years.

Dr Tindall is board certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine.

She completed a residency at the US Department of Veterans Affairs. Dr Tindall is board certified in Internal Medicine.

As an internist in San Antonio, TX, Dr Marisel Tindall serves as a primary care provider for adults. She diagnoses and treats a wide range of conditions, including cross-system illnesses that may affect multiple organ systems. Dr Tindall may also refer patients to a specialist when required. For example, patients with diabetic complications may be referred to an endocrinologist for further treatment.

Dr Tindall also has experience as a hospitalist. Hospital medicine is a type of practice within internal medicine in which the clinical focus is caring for hospitalized patients. Internists practising hospital medicine are frequently called “hospitalists.” The discipline of hospital medicine grew out of the increasing complexity of patients requiring hospital care and the need for dedicated clinicians to oversee their management. The hospitalist model supplanted the traditional method of caring for hospitalized patients, which was often done by clinicians also seeing ambulatory patients or with other clinical obligations that limited their ability to provide the intensity of care often required by these patients.
