We all have heard it said that "life is a journey". But I ask, "a journey to where?" Life is an existence filled with choices. We are creatures of will. We live in a world of laws that often conflict with our will and make life complicated. I believe that life is meant to be what it is for a purpose. Although we are still trying to figure out our purpose on this earth with different philosophies flowing freely, I believe that life has the answer-

-and just one answer, and that answer is to be found through the storms we encounter.

Angela grew up in Miami, Florida, the youngest of 9 children. North Miami Beach senior high school is her alma mater, and is currently studying Business Administration. Angela was never a writer. In fact, writing essays were the assignments she hated most in high school. Angela started her book "What A Tragedy" on June 26, 2017. She is currently working on her second book with her first book being an introduction. Angela loves to travel to gain new perspectives and fresher outlooks on life. Her travels and life experiences has given her something to say, something to share.

Angela Cuff is an ambitious soul with a warm heart for people. She believes that life experiences are lessons that are not to be kept secret, but are to be used to give others hope in their own existence. She believes that people have the desire, but lack courage to step out and be who they are, but are being victimized by their past, their state of mind and the negativities of human nature. Her writings are her offerings of hope.
