

Mother of 8, Receives Support from JMD Furniture

Hyattsville, Jun 27, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Constantly adding value and giving back to the community, JMD Furniture recently reached out to a distraught mother of eight young children and assisted her with essential furniture.

After beginning a beneficiary initiative for elementary and high schools last month, JMD Furniture and Mattresses recently made another welfare act for a mother of 8 who requested for help from the company.

JMD Furniture is located in the United States and is one of the pioneer furniture sellers of the country, it is committed to delivering excellent results with a durable and contemporary range of appliances and furniture. The assorted range of furniture equipment is available for both residential and commercial purposes at great prices. The chain of furniture stores is located in the Metropolitan area with branches in Virginia, Maryland, and Washington D.C.

Martika Conyers of Washington D.C. approached JMD Furniture on their Instagram page, requesting for help. Being a young mother of eight children with four of them in the system, she required help with furnishing her home to bring back her children to a well-furnished house. Being a family-oriented operation, the company has always believed in assisting helpless parents as they are regarded as the backbone of the entire family. The mother was supported by the entire JMD team with furniture for the children to sleep on it.

This beneficiary act by JMD Furniture has been widely appreciated as many dependent families and parents in the U.S. often require such humanitarian support. The chairman, Narender Joshi was quoted as saying, “When we got to know about Martika’s situation and how she was in dire need of a furnished home in order to bring back her four kids home, we realized we had to do something. We discussed the situation, corroborated her requirements and our entire family was more than happy to help her and bring back the children to a safe and furnished home. What more do we need than a happy and satisfied mother!”

Marketing Director of JMD Furniture, Preeti Joshi who was contacted initially by Conyers said, “We are glad that we were able to help a mother get her children back. The furniture that was donated to the family includes a sectional and bunkbed with mattresses. We are hoping that Martika’s house gets furnished and she can get to be with her children again.”

Sunita Joshi, Ritu Joshi, Dev Joshi, Priyanka Joshi, and all other members of JMD Furniture wishes all the very best to the mother and hope to assist many such families who are in serious need of furniture for their homes.

About JMD Furniture: JMD Furniture is the one-stop solution to all kinds of furniture and appliances for both residential and commercial sectors of the U.S. cities. The company is dedicated to enhance society and help everyone as much as possible.
