Florida is a faith-based, not-for-profit healthcare organization and clinical care network which operates seven hospitals, about fifty outpatient and urgent care centers, as well as community health and outreach programs.

Dr. Moreno is also the Medical Director of Cardiac Surgery at the Miami Cardiac & Vascular Institute in Kendall, Florida. Miami Cardiac & Vascular Institute is the largest and most comprehensive cardiovascular facility in the region. As a leader in cardiovascular care, patients can experience consistent, exceptional, evidence-based care at Institute locations throughout Baptist Health.

Dr. Moreno is one of the pioneers in the area of beating-heart surgery, in which the heart is allowed to continue to pump blood to the body while intricate operating techniques are used by the surgeon. He did the first beating-heart operation in South Florida in 1994 and the first minimally invasive aortic and mitral valve surgeries the following year.

Dr. Moreno is a past Chief of Surgery at Baptist Hospital. For the past 10 years, he has served on the hospital's Executive Committee. Dr. Moreno is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons (FACS). He is also board-certified in thoracic and cardiac surgery by the American Board of Thoracic Surgery (ABTS). The primary purpose of the ABTS is to protect the public by establishing and maintaining high standards in thoracic surgery.

Dr. Moreno has published results of cardiovascular surgery studies in numerous medical journals and has trained other physicians extensively, particularly in Central and South America and the Caribbean. He received his medical degree from the American University of the Caribbean School of Medicine in 1979. His postgraduate training includes residencies at the University of Illinois and Metropolitan Group Hospitals, as well as fellowships at Loyola University Medical Center in Maywood and Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago.

Cardiothoracic surgery (also known as thoracic surgery) in the field of medicine involved in the surgical treatment of organs inside the thorax (the chest). Cardiothoracic surgeons, like Dr. Moreno, are medical doctors who specialize in surgical procedures inside the thorax (the chest), which may involve the heart, lungs, esophagus, and other organs in the chest. Alongside performing surgery, they also diagnose and treat diseases of these organs.
