Los Angeles, Jul 4, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - iTalk Events will debut its Motivational Nightlife platform, positioned as a Ted Talk for millennials, in a nightclub setting, July 12 from 7 p.m. – 11 p.m. at the former Frank Sinatra Estate. Featured speakers include event founders Jen Montague and International DJ Casper, Chanel West Coast, Sean Stone, Ali Levine, Dozie Mbonu, and Frank Knuckles. Actress / Reporter Jessica Ross is going to be hosting the red carpet.

Recording artist Chanel West Coast, star of MTV's Ridiculousness, will perform live.

It's where pop culture, leadership, content and stage drama collide.

Motivational Nightlife is the first to merge expressive art forms such as monologuing, storytelling, set design, nightlife, and entertainment -- with empowering and inspirational leadership stories. All are presented by a diverse group of young, established leaders.

"I am excited to host the red carpet for iTalk's debut in Los Angeles at the beautiful Frank Sinatra Mansion. After speaking at iTalk Philadelphia this past April, I was able to witness the impact our speeches had on the audience and how much it inspired people", says Jessica Ross.

The program opens at the top of the estate's hill amidst a club-like, scene, with guests enjoying cocktails, mingling at sunset and listening to original music produced by International DJ Casper. As the sun sets, attendees will experience an opening monologue by Montague entitled "Courage" - delivered from the audience.

Strong stark transitions involving music, sound, lighting, and set moves will advance the show with rapid motion. Attendees will experience 9-minute iTalks one after the other, centered on Vision, Change Acceleration and Endurance with special effects and interruptions, challenging the leaders to examine themselves, their purpose and their talent through a different lens.

Motivational Nightlife is produced by Jennifer Montague and International DJ Casper. Porsche of Woodland Hills will be showcasing luxury vehicles on the red carpet. Take a virtual tour here of the space.
