Dr Downes earned her medical degree from Weill Cornell Medical College, where she was designated as the Marie and John Zimmermann Scholar. She then went on to complete her residency in ophthalmology at St. Luke's - Roosevelt Hospital Center in New York City.

Ophthalmology is a branch of medicine and surgery, which deals with the diagnosis and treatment of eye disorders. Ophthalmologists are experts in the diseases, functions, and anatomy of the eye. They may provide routine care such as vision testing, as well as prescribe and fit eyeglasses or contact lenses. However, ophthalmologists are also surgeons. They repair traumatic injuries to the eye and perform cataract, glaucoma, and corneal surgery.
