

Delightfully Simple and Original Music – Aum Ekdantaye by Sandeep Thakur

Artists who have a strong foundation of talent and tasteful musical should be encouraged to experiment

Bengaluru, Aug 31, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Aum Ekdantaye – this newly released original by celebrity violinist Sandeep Thakur is a refreshingly simple devotional song. Sandeep has written the lyrics and composed the music, rendered his voice and you won't miss the violin either. This song beautifully fills in the space left in between classical devotional and filmy devotional.

As they say, there's something really appealing about simplicity. The lyrics have the purity of a child's soul in awe of Ganesha and the faith of an evolved devotee in deep respect of the Lord. In an age when original works are attempted by popular artists rarely and far in between, Sandeep has dared to tread on a path less traveled.

This work is welcome, especially during this auspicious time of Ganeshotsav when you are keen on playing a devotional song that's contemporary and soothing. Sandeep has been widely known for his violin covers and instrumental collaborations with a wide variety of artists. A vivacious violinist who plays

English, Bollywood, and new age music with equal ease and touch of unparalleled class, has also used his voice in some of his works.

Sandeep Thakur believes music should be a passion rather than a hobby. For a man who is all set to popularize the violin and bringing it under the list of happy instruments, experimenting with new genres hasn't been new. The assortment of Sandeep's violin covers would amaze many who see violin as a classical and sad instrument. With all this background, to compose an original devotional song from penning the lyrics to composing and singing, it takes huge courage and confidence. Such artists who have a strong foundation of talent and tasteful musical should be encouraged to experiment and present to audiences who are craving for fresh and original music.
