Get to know Family Nurse Practitioner Emily Stratton Law, who serves patients in Beverly Hills, California.

New York City, Aug 2, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Emily is a board-certified family nurse practitioner who focuses on primary care and specializes in Adult Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder. She is currently serving patients at the office of Dr. Dale Prokupek in Beverly Hills, California.

Emily earned her Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree from Temple University in 2012. She then went on to earn her master's degree at Samuel Merritt University in 2017.

Emily started her career in acute care, specializing in neurological conditions in the underserved community in New Jersey. While continuing to serve the acute care population, she achieved certification through the American Academy of Nurse Practitioners. Additionally, Emily was inspired to become a nurse because of her older sister.

Emily is a member of the American Association of Nurse Practitioners (AANP). AANP is the largest and only full-service national professional membership organization for NPs of all specialties. In her spare time, Emily enjoys catching the sunset in Santa Monica with her golden retriever, Tex.

Family nurse practitioners (FNPs) are advanced practice registered nurses who work autonomously or in collaboration with other healthcare professionals to deliver family-focused care. Emily has a passion for learning and she continuously applies her knowledge so that she can give her patients the best care possible.
