

Jeremy Condon Creates a Charming Acoustic Backdrop with his Singing in 'I Don't Believe'

Jeremy Condon creates an emotional void in the listener with his sensitive songwriting and honest singing in his acoustic music video 'I Don't Believe'.

North Platte, Dec 31, 1969 (Issuewire.com) - Jeremy Condon has made a fantastic tune about love. He tends to write music that is geared a little bit more towards love, broken heart, and expectations and this is why his recent composition is a pure gem. His records ring true to what a melodious acoustic track should be. It's a complete ear-pleasing experience to hear the singer pour his heart and emotions out. He delivers the thought-provoking lyrics in a very tasteful manner which shows how incredible he is as a singer and songwriter. The music in the song comes across uncluttered, incomplete, and clean and strips down to a simplistic and acoustic format. The artist evokes a plethora of feelings in the listener and gives the song a much more intimate feel with the rhythmic and spacious pull of guitar strings.

The song 'I Don't Believe' is a great testament to what love songs should be and the artist does a fabulous job with the songwriting. The music video sees the artist holding a guitar which he irregularly plays to create a more intense ambiance and wins the heart of his fans with his stunning musicality. The message delivered through his lyricism hooks the listener as Jeremy Condon expresses his feelings for a girl who did not reciprocate the same. His honest attitude accompanied by the acoustic melody line is extremely well done and equally well delivered with his soothing voice. The vibe which comes out is extremely entrancing and fully engulfs the listener's attention. The lyrics talk about receiving love and keeping promises in relationships that are nurtured with love and care with the artist's soulful singing.

It's a treat to hear the singer sing with such passion and love which essentially sprinkles magic on the words. The song's arrangement is a joy to behold and the main focus remains on the immersive songwriting and the artist's voice. It's a mature and thoughtful exploration of sound that shows his sincerity towards the song. Featuring soft rhythm, the song is fantastic and needs to be heard on loop for maximum engagement. This acoustic version is hauntingly beautiful and has an impressive choreography that marks it as one of the most successful acoustic covers ever has been discovered. Enjoy this most melodic soundtrack on YouTube and follow the artist on other social media platforms for more content.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=p4CBJN4O170>

Media Contact

Music Promotion Club

info@musicpromotion.club

Source : Jeremy Condon

See on IssueWire : <https://www.issuewire.com/jeremy-condon-creates-a-charming-acoustic-backdrop-with-his-singing-in-i-dont-believe-1647636367697350>