Chicago, Dec 31, 1969 (Issuewire.com) - Latin music has always been a very intriguing music genre, but right after the release of 'Despacito' in 2017, the music genre has attained a whole new dimension. The popularity of this track has also motivated other young Latin artists to come up with their compositions and get the desired attention. Amongst the many Latin artists who have made their appearance in the mainstream, industry, the Chicago Latin music singer Chris Mar is certainly the one you can't afford to miss. Be it his excellent voice quality, his mastery in the genre or his presentation style, this artist is sure to make it to the top charts very soon.

He is new in the field but his tracks are unparalleled and professionally created by executing the key elements of the Latin genre. He is a bilingual artist and creates music both in English and Latin. He wants to connect with fans and make them realize the true worth of Latin music. If you are hearing him for the first time, listen to his debut track 'No Es Amor', a track that is full of finger-picked Spanish guitar powered with his erotic voice. This track will not make you sit in one place and will make you groove.

Chris Mar's 'Dime' is yet another track that delivers the quintessential Latin vibes with its every note. The mild vibes of Afro beats. The track also makes use of the fundamental rhythm termed as clave and this is what proves that he is very well-versed with the different forms of Latin music.

Last but not least his latest single 'Te Quiero Ver' is a pure love track where Chris is confessing love to his Ladylove. He wants to see her and he is passionately expressing how he feels. Follow him
