

Marquis Who's Who honors Wall St Executive Spencer de Melo, CPA, CFE, CIA, CISA, MBA, MST

Leicester, Oct 30, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Marquis Who's Who, the World's premier publisher of biographical profiles, has honored Wall St Executive Spencer de Melo, CPA, CFE, CIA, CISA, MBA, MST with inclusion in Who's Who in the World. An accomplished listee, Mr. de Melo celebrates many years' experience in his professional network and has been noted for his achievements in the area of capital markets.

As in all Marquis Who's Who biographical volumes, individuals profiled are selected on the basis of the current reference value. Factors such as position, noteworthy accomplishments, visibility, and prominence in a field are all taken into account during the selection process. With more than 15 years of professional experience to his credit, Mr. de Melo has excelled as an Investment banking executive advising investment banking giants Citigroup, JP Morgan, UBS and Credit Suisse and building a reputation for his tactical approach to risk pricing and engineering of asset-backed securities. Known for his astute, secretive yet affable nature, he has more recently developed a standardized approach to stress testing, which has circumvented current redundant legacy systems and exempted his employers from costly compliance mistakes.

A pupil from a prestigious European based IB World School, the Portuguese-born son of Cape Verdean parents arrived alone in the US at the tender age of 16. He was able to afford a notable collegiate career through academic scholarships while working at fast-food restaurants to support himself. He remarks on his arduous journey as having gifted him with the indebtedness of hard work, persistence, and resilience. He also celebrates his journey as a proud example of the valuable contribution of immigrants towards the fabric of the US.

Young, exuberant, and restless, Spencer hails from a new breed of investment banking intellectuals, who relish the multifaceted American experience and the growing need for global cultural unity, racial diversity, and inclusion.

Spencer de Melo holds an undergraduate degree summa cum laude in Accounting from Providence College, an MBA from Johnson and Wales University and a Masters in Taxation from Bryant University. He also volunteers at the non-profit Dorcas Institute, where he helps incoming immigrants learn English and integrate into American society.
