Rebranding Added.tech (Madman Technologies), the IOT Solutions Company

New Delhi, Dec 31, 1969 (IssueWire.com) - Leading IoT solutions, services, and products delivery company is rebranding to bring in even more energy and passion in its work. The technology company is known for its on time and high quality services to all its customers.

Added.tech (Madman Technologies) is a customer centered service provider which believes in the uniqueness of each client that it deals with. It offers tailor made tools, solutions, services, and products in the world of Internet of Things or IoT. It also offers IT solutions for all your needs like IoT, Video conferencing, telephony etc.

The company with its Indian Head quarter at Noida, India, has great leadership like Manish Gupta its dynamic Chief Strategy Officer. "We are a young and vibrant company playing a lead role in providing IoT solutions to a growing list of lifelong clients." This vibrancy trickles down to all team members who work with the same vision and mission.

The team at Added.tech is excited by the new logo in its rebranding move. They say that they love the new energy and passion that its new logo has brought in. Each member working with this company takes on assignments and faces challenges with enthusiasm. They rise to the occasion and achieve all milestones set for them.

Added.tech doesn't believe in making its clients compromise for want of tools and solutions for its technology requirements. The company doesn't sell ready-made products, but instead customizes for them after understanding the needs of each client.

The leadership and team at Added.tech feel that rebranding the company adds a new vigor. The rebranding has spread a thrill of new excitement as the new logo enhances its vision of 'Always Adding Value' to each assignment to build lifelong relationships with every client.
