Salinas, Dec 23, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - Legendary Trading Super-Star, Multi-Millionaire and founder of DayTraderPro Guy Gentile will be sharing his wealth of information on how to Consistently Make Money As A Day Trader in this interview.

Please tell us your name and about yourself?

My name is Guy Gentile. I began trading in 1995 at 19-years-old while working at Coca-Cola. I had no idea about what the stock market was. I hadn't even heard of it until my banker told me that if I wanted to earn more than just one or two percent in my account that I had to open an investment account.

My first trade was made through the online account I opened with my local bank. I noticed a trend where the stock would fluctuate in value, and I decided that the next time it goes up, I'm going to sell it, and when it goes back down, I'll buy it. That led from trading Coca-Cola to trading other stocks during the day while still working the night shift at Coca-Cola.

I remember making the mistake of leveraging up Yahoo during the dot-com bubble. The stock had just popped, and I thought it would continue. I put all of my money into it, and within a few days, it had dropped over 50 percent in value. I lost everything I had invested, which was about $20,000. That was the moment I realized that I needed to educate myself on trading, so I started reading books. I read about day trading, general trades and options, and even though I wasn't trading, I continuously followed the market.

While I was lucky enough to win back the money I had lost and more, not many traders can say the same. After over 20 years since my first trade, I still believe that having a strong fundamental knowledge of trading is essential to success coupled with an even stronger support system.

Could you tell us in summary, how to consistently make money as a day trader?

The way to consistently make money as a day trader is through hard work, scanning the market, and understanding what is really happening. This is what I show my traders how to do step-by-step, but at the same time, we're going through real-life examples, calling out trades and reviewing our trade strategies so that traders know the fundamentals. By doing this consistently, traders can make money.

What is SpeedTrader and how does it work?

What makes Guy Gentile & DayTraderPros different from other trading gurus and what is your success story so far?

Well at the end of the day, I'm not a marketer, saying that I make a living day trading, like the other guys. I'm a professional trader and so is my team. We've been in and around the business for a very long time and what DayTraderPro does, is bring real-life, day-to-day trading to the table. Our strategies are built around today's market and we're constantly updating our content and education to reflect this – that's what's different.

Since the course is a complete market education, it's really the only fast-track to success as a day-trader.

What are your safety and security guarantees?

DayTraderPro has a 30-day money-back guarantee. If our traders are satisfied with the academy, they're protected.

Do you have more information for our readers?

Getting trading mentorship is valuable whether you are just starting out or a seasoned investor, stuck in a rut. A mentor might be just what you need; however, stay clear of marketers. They'll sell you anything and leave you hanging dry – or just send you a ton of meaningless emails.

If you want to make it big as a day-trader, your best bet is to learn what the pros already know and skip the hard work of building the wheel from scratch!
