Museum of Selfies, an interactive museum that explores the history of the selfie, is excited to announce its first location outside of California in fabulous Las Vegas. On the heels of the museum's immense success opening a permanent location in Hollywood, California a year ago, Museum of Selfies opened a location inside the Miracle Mile Shops on Monday, Nov. 25.

"We are so excited to expand the Museum of Selfie brand to Las Vegas," said Kate Kutepova, co-founder of Museum of Selfies. "The iconic Las Vegas Strip is so Instagramable in itself, we can't think of a better place to debut our next installment."

The new Las Vegas family-friendly attraction will feature similar iconic photo opportunities as its Hollywood location including the two-sided illusion Bathroom Selfie, the iconic 'GOT' Selfie Throne made up of selfie sticks, an Emoji Pool and the comically catastrophic David Accident. The interactive experience provides guests premium selfie opportunities featuring works from several visionary artists. Museumgoers will leave with Instagram-worthy photos and a better understanding of the selfie and its meaning.

Museum of Selfies Las Vegas officially opened its doors to the public on Monday, Nov. 25 and will stay till Sunday, January 5th. Hours of operation will be Sunday-Thursdays from 10 a.m. – 11 p.m. and Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. – Midnight. Tickets start at $22 for children and $29 for adults and will be available online at www.SelfieVegas.com.
