

Rapper Avalanche The Architect Creates a Worldwide Buzz with Two New Hits

The Canadian heartthrob Avalanche The Architect dropped two of the best hip hop numbers 'Why Pree' and 'Coke in the Pot' that have made enough noise on Spotify.

Bronx, Dec 31, 1969 (IssueWire.com) - The end of the year will be dynamic with the latest hits from Avalanche The Architect. The eminent rapper released two more hit tracks 'Why Pree' and 'Coke in the Pot' on Spotify after the huge success of 'Give Me My Money'. Apart from being a successful international rapper, he is a professional Martial Arts competitor who got his unwavering inspiration to practice rap battle in a worldwide stage from the hard work and dedication towards the extensive practice of Martial Arts. He is among the few talents of Canada who won the external style of battle rap with the distinctive remix of Nas's 'Got Your Self A Gun'.

'Why Pree' is an exemplary hip hop song made by Avalanche The Architect that has a mesmeric dancing rhythm. This millionaire rapper has worked with rapper Mega Sean and reggae artist Aidonia to form such a mind-blowing dancing hip hop number. The "Hip Hop Hulk" has made a great choice to combine different genres at the same time in one piece that he owns so distinctively. It starts with a fine-tune of piano that advances into a free flow blend of reggae and rap. This song reflects his mastery as a rapper and creativity as an artist to blend two distinct genres as one.

Avalanche The Architect is a great rapper who came up with another heavy number of hip hop. 'Coke in the Pot' is the lead single off his 8th studio album. This album is all set to be another milestone in his career. 'Why Pree' tour will be arranged soon where he will perform with other singers too.
