

Former Pilot Gifts Readers with Anthology of Life Miles Above Ground

A not to be missed delightful collection of true-to-life experiences of an aviator and his decades of flying

I'LL HAVE THE CHICKEN

Captain Robert Kavula

Pittsburg, Jan 9, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Captain Robert Kavula's life high up in the sky as a pilot gave him countless of stories to tell. His tales were too exhilarating that the people who had the privilege to hear them motivated him to turn it into a book. *I'll Have the Chicken* is a collection of fascinating chronicles ranging from Captain Kavula's journey to becoming a pilot to his hilarious conversations among aviators and thrilling adventures on the runway and in the air.

I'll Have the Chicken is nothing but engaging stories that send readers inside the cockpit, mid-air, to experience the life of a flyer. Captain Kavula's success does not only stop at being a pilot but extends to being a writer as he was able to keep his vivid memories alive more than forty years later.

"Kavula's story is an intriguing one, which engages the reader from the very first page. One gets a true sense in reading this work that not only did Kavula love his many, rich experiences flying aircraft but that he appears to find joy in sharing the stories of those experiences with the reader," notes Jonah Meyer of The US Review of Books.

Captain Kavula's wife was his editor during the writing of the book. They live in Las Vegas, Nevada.

I'll Have the Chicken

Written by Captain Robert Kavula

E-book | $5.99

Paperback | $11.99

Hardcover | $17.99

Book copies are available at Authors Press, Amazon, Barnes & Noble, and other online book retailers.

About Authors Press

Authors Press is an online publishing company and book reseller catering to the needs of both experienced and aspiring authors as well as readers. They offer the best publishing solutions for full-time and independent authors. The company's team of proofreaders, editors, designers, and publishing professionals are committed to achieving industry standards for their client's work to be published, marketed, and sold.

I'll Have the Cbiken is a collection of engaging stories from former Navy and commercial pilot Captain Robert Kavula. The book gives readers an intimate look from the other side of the cockpit door and some of the decisions made before and during flight. Kavula tells about his journey to become a pilot, near collisions in the air and on the runway, and the people and flights that remain vivid memories more than forty years later.

The collection includes Kavula's account of losing engines and generators and somehow finding his way to a safe landing, and hilarious conversations among pilots mid-flight. Read about Kavula's flight with astronaut Neil Armstrong and the question he asked him about flying, and dozens more stories that put the reader inside the cockpit to experience the life of a pilot.

Captain Robert Kavula's life as a pilot gave him countless stories that have resulted in this book. Part of his motivation for this work is the many times he tells a story and people respond, "You should write a book." His wife Dale was his editor during the writing of the book, having previously been the editor of the Moffet Field Base paper while Kavula was stationed there from 1963 to 1964. They now live in Las Vegas, Nevada.

One of many enticing stories the author shares is the time he piloted a flight from Europe to JFK with Neil Armstrong aboard. Kavula asked the famed astronaut what the most difficult thing about the moon flight was. Interestingly, Armstrong responded, "Dieting. For two years I had to keep my weight down in order to fit into the space suit, and each pound of flesh would consume extra fuel." This was not, says the author, the answer he had expected.

The US Review of Books

Media Contact

Authors Press

info@authorspress.com

(925) 255-0098

1321 Buchanan Rd.

Source : Authors Press

See on IssueWire