New York City, Mar 14, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Recognized as one of Florida's leading experts in surgery for conditions of the ears, nose, and throat, Dr. DuMornay tends to patients at Broward ENT & Aesthetics Services in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. He is well known for his caring and compassionate approach, taking his time to talk to his patients and ease any concerns that they may have.

Conditions treated by him include acute sinusitis, allergic rhinitis, eustachian tube dysfunction, laryngitis, tonsillitis, thyroid disorders, and more. Expert procedures undertaken by him include lymph node biopsy, endoscopic sinus surgery, rhinoplasty, balloon sinuplasty, tracheal surgery, thyroid lobectomy, septoplasty, as well as facial plastic and reconstructive surgery.

The doctor is also affiliated with South Florida Surgical Specialists, LLC, whose mission is to provide the highest quality of care to patients with disorders of the ears, nose, throat, head and neck. To achieve this mission, the team of professionals emphasize compassionate care, clinical excellence, and the use of the latest technology available to treat the medical and surgical problems of the ears, nose, and throat.

Dedicated to providing the best comprehensive medical care available, Dr. DuMornay can be found on staff at Broward Health Medical Center in Fort Lauderdale & Broward Health North in Deerfield Beach.

Both locations are a part of Broward Health, which is a nationally recognized system that has provided world-class healthcare services to neighbors in South Florida for more than 80 years. It includes four major hospitals and more than 30 locations and offices overall, offering a wide spectrum of expert healthcare for the entire family. "The mission of Broward Health is to provide quality healthcare to the people we serve and support the needs of all physicians and employees" as stated on their website.

A 1998 graduate of Temple University, Dr. DuMornay completed his internship at Tulane University in New Orleans, Louisiana. He then went on to complete his residencies in otolaryngology - head and neck surgery at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center and the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in 2000 and 2004, respectively. This was followed by a fellowship in head and neck oncology with microvascular reconstruction at the University of Miami School of Medicine in 2004.

After his fellowship, as the course of his service to the United States Army, Dr. DuMornay served as a surgeon on a trauma team in Iraq for over a year. During this time, he and his colleagues provided care to soldiers injured in combat, as well as to Iraqi patients in Baghdad and surrounding villages. He would be deployed two more times until leaving the military with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

In addition to being a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons (FACS), he is board-certified in otolaryngology by the American Board of Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery, which serves the public by ensuring that diplomates meet the standards of training, knowledge, and professionalism through initial and continuing certification.

The author of many articles and medical papers on otolaryngology, Dr. DuMornay is fluent in English, French, and Spanish, which makes him accessible to patients from a variety of cultural backgrounds.

Otolaryngology is the oldest medical specialty in the United States. Otolaryngologists, also known as ear, nose, and throat doctors, specialize in disorders of the head and neck, ranging from hearing loss to cancer.
