Instead of putting the best efforts to maintain an equal connection with every tenant, sometimes situations can get worse and things become sour. Even when the landlord loses the complete right on the home when it is rented out, he/she has the freedom to evict the unwanted tenant. A tenant can be evicted for various reasons such as using the property for an illegal purpose, causing a nuisance, neither paying the rent nor vacating the building and violating the lease. Tenant eviction is a wider procedure as it involves several legal matters such as eviction notice, court hearings and property disputes. Therefore, it is good to approach a landlord lawyer to save time, money and efforts.

Over the years, Fast Eviction Service was successfully managed by Jeff Bodine, CA who is an experienced landlord lawyer focused on making the tenant eviction process easier and faster. He starts by reviewing all the documents related to property and rent lease agreement to attain a clear understanding of the entire situation. Afterwards, eviction papers or notice is delivered to tenants stating to vacate the property within a given time frame.
