If you live in India and want to talk to someone in the Alps use... the Surro!

Take maximum advantage of the ability to “travel” by simply live streaming around the world from your couch! Plus, you can make the experience even richer by using VR tools!

Your imagination is the only limit!

Want to become a Surro? Surros are active social media users living in major cities around the entire globe, who enjoy connecting with people for conversation and fun!

There are endless worldwide locales that are worth seeing. With The Surro Live Streaming App, viewers get to see a foreign city as a local would!

How The Surro Live Streaming App Is Different

Many apps don't support a seamless connection between the streamer and the client. If there are many viewers, individual viewers have to send a chat message to communicate. But the Surro Live Streaming App is the exact opposite. Surro is a double-reality app that allows you to be in 2 places at once!

The Surro Live Streaming App offers a unique 1:1 experience in which the viewers control what they see in the livestream. The viewer tells the streamer where to go, pan right, pan left – whatever the viewer desires!

The Idea Behind The Surro Live Streaming App

Jacek Ryszka is the creator of The Surro Live Streaming App. “I was in the construction industry,” he says, “And I needed to get a video of a building we had worked on that was 100 miles away. Instead of wasting all that travel time, I wished I could find a person who lived near the site who could livestream it for me.”

Jacek says, “I thought there probably was an app for that. I could tell the person what kind of video I needed. But I couldn't find any, so I just created it.”

The Surro Live Streaming App allowed Jacek to get a video of the construction site in progress every day, so he could focus on other priorities in his business. That's when he knew the Surro Live Streaming App could work for business, online education, any number of common daily tasks, and just socializing and fun!
