

India's Youngest Motivational Speaker Launches AI Driven Career Counselling Platform.

An Initiative to Inspire Students, Professional and Entrepreneurs.

Bengaluru, May 26, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - After a decade of Inspiring community building across the globe, International Leadership Consultant and TEDx Speaker Arunabha Bhattacharjee is all set to launch a fully-fledged AI-driven career counseling and mentoring platform to add value to student and professional community. "What I have witnessed in the last few years is that majority of the student's face to cope in this competitive world because their foundation has not been strong, and thus they miss out to be a part of the bigger picture of creating impact and be a winner in the journey, but now as I have decided this issue with the help of AI; students can now decide which course or stream is perfect to opt for them based on their psychology followed by detailed counseling by an accredited and certified counselor; no more one needs to depend on agents or friends for career advice, You select your career based on your aspirations and your IQ quotient."

Even for the professional, they can take the test and find out based on their brain mapping, which vertical suits them so that they plan their career movement accordingly.

With the rapid pace in Digital Transformation, it is time that we upgrade ourselves as well, says the coach.
