Corporate training has a special fan base in modern India. In day to day life, you come across many people who desired to learn all the aspects of training related to the corporate world. In this blog, we are going to know about the guy who started providing training to the corporates and the other candidates at the very early age of 16.

Yes! You read it right. Started at the age of 16, This guy is turned out to be sensational among his friends. His name is Krishna Mahajan commonly well known as Krishna in his locality. His achievements are hard to believe. He started all these work at an early age and now He is the Co-founder of the fast-growing Ed-Tech Company named ETI EDUCOM. His main vision is to make every child of India a technophile.

Everyone wants to achieve something or Everything. But success will be gained by those who work hard and dedicate everything to their dream. Krishna is a classy example of this. Like all of us, he also dreamed to go big and make his parents proud. Earlier he was supported by none. But now he is praised by everyone. That's the standard he has settled among his people.

As of now, Krishna is the Co-founder of ETI EDUCOM. Before that he got 3-year experience as a corporate trainer in the India leading institution. His achievements are quite larger. He got 17+ international certifications from the MNC's companies like Redhat, CompTIA, EC-council, and many more. Despite all his achievements, he is still down to earth, polite and well wisher. He always pushes people who got failed and he motivates all of them to achieve their goal.

Krishna at his young age became a role model for the students. He has himself made an ambition higher and higher. His hunger for success has never lasted. People who want to be like him must follow his routine. All the short nights that were spent by him pays off. When the going gets tough always the tough one gets going. His words are motivational to many people around him. There is nothing wrong to set him as an idol.

When asked about the future of his company he answered that the next thing is to help all the underdeveloped students of India to be future-ready. He has made several attempts to choose the right ones to give education. His biggest dream is to help out every needy child with the education and to make the youth of this country equipped with all required 21st Century Skills . We have to appreciate the effort made by him to achieve this feat.

"There is no shortcut for success. Success is not everyone's cup of tea"

Krishna Mahajan

Krishna says“ There is no shortcut for success. Success is not everyone's cup of tea. We have to achieve it with hard work and through struggles. Success without all this is nothing but a piece of luck. Luck will never last for a long time. One should have to focus on his own goal with a lot of passion”. Like always he is upfront to cheer for the young generation. One of his students told that they were blessed to have a leader like him who supports them no matter how hard it goes. He is truly a legend in this corporate field. Seems like his students are following his footsteps right from the beginning. It is nice to see the guys like him taking initiative to help out the desired students to achieve great heights of success in their life !!
