

Micodin Hugely Appeals to the Mass with His Honest and Pristine Hip-Hop Production ‘Born Sinner’

Spokane valley hiphop artist Micodin gives everyone a glimpse of his unmatched personality and fluent rap style as he creates his new music video ‘Born Sinner’.

some trying to show their frustration through rebellious actions. But then there are very few individuals like Micodin who have rightfully utilized the period to craft out his story in the form of an amusing lyrical video. The brilliant work of art not only shows how massively talented the artist is but also solidifies his position in the hip-hop genre. The Spokane valley hiphop artist chose to pen down all his scribbling thoughts and ideas to create his latest music video that truly stands out with his genuine emotion. The rapper has free-styled over his real-life experiences and incidents to give both the audience and the hip-hop genre a much-needed break from the usual compositions.

The track 'Born Sinner', details the rapper's life through an engaging musical and lyrical video. The artist talks on how he has struggled through his childhood where he had to leave a job because he couldn't cope up with his super-rich boss. Coming next, the artist shares how he had been taught that prayers and candles can heal everything, but unfortunately that couldn't save his mother. After such a painful loss, the artist felt like ending his life while only he was 15 but chose to steer the direction of his life's course and take one day at a time. He made sure that he is going to do the best he can because life has no certainty. Driven with spirit and a fearless attitude, Micodin decided to turn all the anger into motivation so that he can spend the rest of his life like a vacation. Through a series of appealing words and a lo-fi beat accompanying them throughout, the rapper keeps the audience hooked to his revelations as he raps fluently to summarize his life. The video shows the artist standing in the background such that the listener can relate to his depiction in real.

Addiction, recovery, depression of loved ones, and finally struggling to reach the top of success; everything has been so clearly arranged in the track 'Born Sinner'. Built under the label ROTM (Right on the money) the track shows an innovational rapper and also a lyricist who writes about actual life issues in a real catchy manner. He has created the video along with Bzzar who provided him the studio, created the attractive beat, published it, and also mastered the track. Drawing inspiration from Mike S the artist has creatively shaped his talent. Watch the video on YouTube and follow him on Facebook and Instagram for more information.
