

Oprah Surprise Footnanny Products Self Care Social Media Post

Self-Care Foot Products Highlighted on Oprah's Instagram

Santa Barbara, May 24, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Footnanny brand was given a major boost after Oprah Winfrey took to social media Sunday to post a photo of her stay at home self-care moment with Footnanny products. Winfrey stated "Self-Care Sunday with assistance from daughter-girl and Footnanny Hemp Cream. Doing our best to help crusty feet!" <https://www.instagram.com/oprah/?hl=en>

This moment came as a total surprise to the Founder of Footnanny, her long time pedicurist, Gloria L. Williams. Coincidentally, Williams was also soaking her feet at home and expressed her gratitude for Oprah's surprise post via social media. <https://www.instagram.com/footnanny/?hl=en>

Footnanny products have been a long time favorite of O The Oprah Magazine and have become extremely necessary due to the worldwide stay at home orders amid COVID-19, which has prevented millions of consumers from going to their favorite nail salons for a pedicure. Williams stated that this post was a huge blessing and gave my brand the boost it needed to express the importance of at home self-care for your feet.

Footnanny products are available at Amazon, HSN, Bed Bath and Beyond, Etsy and Footnanny.com. The brand was created from the memory of the founder's ancestors gift of blending ingredients and their signature southern "Old Fashioned Rubdown".

Footnanny is a Woman Owned Business and Products are made in the USA.
