

John Shinin, M.D., an Internist in private practice

Get to know Internist Dr. John Shinin, who serves patients in Patchogue, New York.

New York City, Jun 26, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Dr. Shinin is a well-versed internist specializing in the prevention, detection, and treatment of illnesses. He provides patients with high-quality medical care at his private practice in Patchogue, New York.

Having been practicing on Long Island since 2001, he knows that finding qualified primary care physicians can be a difficult and often time-consuming process. That is why he takes pride in his ability to communicate with patients and will take the time to explain their condition and available treatment options. Some of the services that he offers include high blood pressure control, diabetes management, medical spa treatments, and more. He goes out of his way to prevent and minimize any discomfort associated with any treatment or procedures.

As for his academic career, Dr. Shinin earned his medical degree from the prominent School of Medical Sciences at the University of Cuenca, Ecuador. He then completed his four-year residency in internal medicine with the New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation.

With the advantage of modern, up-to-date training coupled with 15 years of experience, the doctor is board-certified in internal medicine by the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM). The ABIM is a physician-led, non-profit, independent evaluation organization driven by doctors who want to achieve higher standards for better care in a rapidly changing world.

As a testament to his success, Dr. Shinin has received the distinguished Physician's Recognition Award in Continual Medical Education. He is also the recipient of Compassionate Doctor Recognition (2014) and Patients' Choice Award (2015).

Internal medicine is the medical specialty dealing with the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of adult diseases. Physicians specializing in internal medicine are called internists. They manage and prevent common and complex diseases by providing comprehensive care and promoting overall well-being.
