John Shashaty is a native New Yorker that cares about his city! Many know John as someone that is always willing to help a person in need. This is true whether he is performing his duties as a financial services professional or showing off his abstract drawings at an art show. Per FINRA broker-check, Shashaty has various securities registrations and years of experience in the financial services industry. What is intriguing about John, is that he also has a creative side which has led to the creation of very interesting abstract artwork.

Shashaty has been featured in various NYC art shows in 2018 - 2020. As his following grew, so did his business ventures. In 2019, NocturnalAbstract.com was born. In just one year his website has been noted by Shopify as being in the top 1% of traffic for all sites opened at the same time as his. Shashaty's abstract art designs have made their way to many products including sneakers, skateboards, hats, apparel, and now COVID-19 masks.

The same love and passion that Shashaty puts into his artwork and financial services career, is the same that he puts into helping people and his city! In June 2020, Shashaty hosted a virtual art fair where his works were admired and giveaways provided. It was at this event where Shashaty announced that he would be donating 2222 masks to residents of NYC to help battle the COVID-19 pandemic. While the gesture is typical of Shashaty, the best part about the donation is that all masks will be based on his original artwork like the products on NocturnalAbstract.com. These trendy masks are an amazing fashion accessory and will definitely be the cause of a lot of buzz and conversation in NYC!

Shashaty is also running a promotion on his website until August 31, 2020. One of these awesome COVID-19 Nocturnal Abstract masks will be included for free with any purchase of NocturnalAbstract.com sneakers.
