

D Kush knocks off the hip-hop boundaries with his full-blown rap style in the video 'Feel Something'

D Kush taps into the mainstream hip-hop with his unapologetic attitude and swag filled rap performance shown stylistically in his new music video 'Feel Something'.

Pueblo, Jul 8, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Marking his way into the summer with smooth and engaging hip-hop production, upcoming Ohio rapper D Kush has given the rap sounds a taste of his unique flavor and marked the beginning of a new hip-hop realm. The artist has stunned the audience with his fine beats and stylish approach that allures the listeners indefinitely. By portraying his distinctive rap features and eclectic rhythm, the rapper has thrown in an infectious hint of his melody potential and has released a song that shoots his name to the top. He has a voice that is unapologetic and flows with an attitude that is rare in the industry. The artist makes sure to keep the audience all pumped with his performances and provide all essential ingredients to make his song impressive and impactful. Tending to take a direct approach to inject his creativity in the minds of the listener, the rapper has sculpted a track that is loaded with catchy words and fusion of hip-hop and rap.

'Feel Something' is an entertaining music video that hits the senses with the rapper's confident storytelling and vocal depth. The energy and the essence in his voice remain consistent as the rapper sets the scene engaging with his outstanding rap performance. The artist's versatility is well displayed as he talks about his life instances and ornaments it with his witty songwriting to captivate the listeners. Never one to let down his style, the rapper surely makes his art form count and keeps the listeners on their toes at every point. The changing scenario guided by his groovy rap performance assists the song to become an easy hit in the hip-hop genre. The track is committed to giving a good time to any hip-hop fan as the artist quite efficiently sweeps away the hearts of the audience based on his intriguing elements of rap. The stand out feature of the video was the consistent melody and tempo in the artist's voice that gets majestic with each second and creates a groove that loops around the mind.

D Kush's portrayal of his potential in his latest video 'Feel Something' proves that he is a sure winner who offers stunning grits with his heavy-hitting unpredictable flow. What's truly impressive here is the artist's versatility, a quality that would easily help him catch the eye of many big names and would subsequently offer him a huge success in the platform. Watch his gorgeous performance on YouTube now.

Click here to get the full video ' Feel Something ' on YouTube:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Nrkk3DXRs5k>

Media Contact

Music Promotion Club

info@musicpromotion.club

Source : D kush

See on IssueWire