She has been my ‘diabetes partner’ for years; she has taught me how to comfortably live with the disease and its ramifications. She gives each of her patients everything we need to live healthy, happy, productive lives. I highly recommend Dr. Susan M Wang, D.O.!”

Professionally, she is affiliated with several medical facilities in her local area, including Bridgeport Hospital and Milford Hospital. She also serves as a Clinical Instructor at the Yale School of Nursing.

After earning her Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine (DO) degree from the New York Institute of Technology College of Osteopathic Medicine, Dr. Wang went on to serve her residency in internal medicine at Stamford Hospital. This was followed by a fellowship in endocrinology, diabetes & metabolism at the University of South Carolina School of Medicine.

A Fellow of the American College of Endocrinology (FACE) and a member of the American Diabetes Association, the doctor is board-certified in internal medicine and endocrinology, diabetes & metabolism by the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM). The ABIM is a physician-led, non-profit, independent evaluation organization driven by doctors who want to achieve higher standards for better care in a rapidly changing world.

Endocrinology is a branch of biology and medicine dealing with the endocrine system, its diseases, and its specific secretions known as hormones. Endocrinologists have the training to diagnose and treat hormone imbalances and problems by helping to restore the normal balance of hormones in the body. The common diseases and disorders of the endocrine system that endocrinologists deal with include diabetes mellitus, as well as adrenal, pituitary, and thyroid disorders, among others.

On a more personal note, Dr. Wang wed Brannin Beeks on October 8th, 2011 in Orange, Connecticut.
