With years of experience in manufacturing garment products, Dony has quickly researched and developed quality products to protect consumers from the Covid-19 pandemic.

In specific, the company introduced Dony 3-Ply Antibacterial Mask in 2019. Soon after, these masks are increasingly trusted by both domestic and international consumers.

Unlike surgical face masks produced for single-use, the Dony 3-Ply Antibacterial Mask is enhanced with multiple layers of washable antibacterial fabric. As a result, consumers can expect extra protection against droplets, splashes, or even the spread of Coronavirus.

Accordingly, there are 3 layers available:

- The outer layer is completely resistant against liquid so that harmful droplets will never have a chance to stick to the face mask, let alone cause any infection.
- Then, the middle layer is active to prevent up to 99.9% common bacteria and 99.95% UV rays thanks to its quality material and UPF 50+ capacity. More excitingly, this layer will stay durable and efficient even after repeated washes.
- Finally, there is an entirely fresh innermost ply that is made of antibacterial materials. This layer is the most important to prevent microbes and viruses.

More interestingly, all finished Dony 3-Ply Antibacterial Masks that meet the quality inspection are carefully packaged, sterilized, and sealed with modern machines. Workers hardly involved in this process to avoid infections to the masks from outside.

Besides the quality, we also appreciate that the Dony 3-Ply Antibacterial Masks feature a fit and breathable comfort so that consumers can wear them on for the whole day.

- Certificate of registration (U.S FDA): This certificate is extended to 50 states and other territories of the U.S to protect the public health when it comes to safety, efficacy, as well as security of products. In sum, the face masks of Dony are quality enough to be exported to the U.S market.
- CE certification: The CE is subjected to the safety of products in European directives, including the face masks.
- ISO 9001:2015: ISO is the most frequent international safety management system. By being certified by the ISO 9001:2015, Dony 3-Ply Antibacterial Mask focuses on customers' demands and satisfaction.
