

Ya'aqov Yasharal Found His True Self through Music Album and Singles

New Orleans, Jul 24, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Ya'aqov Yasharal is a hip hop singer and songwriter who was born in a town that is especially known for its strong association with jazz music, New Orleans. He has released one album and five singles.

Even though Ya'aqov Yasharal was born in Jazz Town, grown and surrounded by music that is not his genre, he committed to follow his passion, influence himself, and motivated himself to make music. His voice and music are unique. He found his inspiration and motivated himself to create unique lyrics and beats.

Ya'aqov Yasharal has been placing his music on some music streaming platforms and gaining more and more listeners because his music represents himself as a unique singer and songwriter. His music includes one album and five singles. His album Apostate was released in February 2020 in cooperation with JAMES MERVIN FRANCOIS, III label. The songs include Up in Flames, My Idols Been Dead, Dark Spring, Revenge Body, Yah Familia, Pt. 1, Yah Familia, Pt. 2, and Portrayed Me.

Once Ya'aqov Yasharal told his fans how to become a better songwriter or singer, “Be yourself, motivate yourself, influence yourself, inspire yourself, don't look to other people to motivate you. And don't stop to motivate yourself.” Again, he always encourages other people to follow his passion, be themselves and be unique.

Ya'aqov Yasharal has been playing music since he was twelve years old. Some music genres inspired him before he found his true self in music, including classic gangsta rap, heavy metal, or even classical music has been around him when he grew up and decided to follow his passion in R&B music.

“My mom, my dad, my cousin, have supported me in music. I grew up in a jazz town, New Orleans, and I found many musicians who inspired me.” said the Dark Spring singer who is also inspired by Big Sean, Kid Cudi, and Mozart.
