

Meet DJ Sonic, The Famous Music Composer

Iranian DJ

Sun City West, Aug 11, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - DJ Sonic is an Iranian Composer On 16th December 1984, A baby was born in the center of Tehran who as a star in the world of music, revived the name of Iran in the field of Art and Modern music.

In this biography, we will take a glance at the life of this young man, from "the path of talent to be a star" in the field of music and all the ups and downs that he has experienced to reach this point of success.

The first challenge: He did not join Basij (a political Iranian militia) and lost his career as a Football player.

Nowadays it makes no sense to limit youth aspiration and Barsam faced it for the first time in his thirties. Having played in Etkā, Ekbatan, and the Dokhania youth team, he had to sign up for Basij to play for a military club so that he could perform his military service. Therefore there was an interval in his career and he had to retire. This later led to his emigration.

Beginning of an adventure in Music

In 2008, despite his success in the lucrative mobile phone business in Iran, he took an interest in music production and started playing and composing music as a DJ. This job is not official in Iran, and the dream of immigrating to an unlimited world out of Iran became even stronger in Barsam's mind, so strong that in 2010, with a lot of effort, he moved to Japan.

The third challenge: Japan, a place ready to fly

Well, you have plenty of challenges in the first year of entering a country with a completely different culture and people with a different language from what you experienced at home and in your home country. A young Iranian who came to Japan with little money to develop his talent and interact freely with music. Barsam continued his career as a DJ in Japan in 2011, developing his method.

The fourth challenge: Establishment of Sonic club and birth of DJ Sonic

After overcoming the challenges of immigration and starting a business in Japan, Barsam opened a club called "Sonic Club", which is currently one of the top five in Japan. There he developed a habit of working with leading DJs from East Asia and South America, enabling him to make significant advances in composition and begin a new path to surpassing the young man's aspirations as a musician. In 2015 and 2016, Barsam was not far from being the best of Japanese DJ clubs, and reliable sources have mentioned some obstacles, most of which are related to the fact that DJ Sonic is Iranian. But eventually in the polls in 2017, he became the most popular DJ in the provincial area.

And now the dreams are going beyond....

The fifth challenge: Social media and the warm support of his fans

After joining social media and making a name as an Iranian composer and artist who had not been to his country for more than 10 years and missed his family, his fans supported his Instagram and Facebook page in less than a year to reach more than 200 k followers on Instagram and 150 k on Facebook.

Now, with all this support and love, what is your next goal, the amazing "DJ Sonic" ...

The sixth challenge: Being in the list of the top 100 DJs in the world

Yes, now, with the support of his international fans, this young man who has been remarkably successful, is determined to enter the top 100 DJs in the world, which is organized by the prestigious specialized magazine "DjMag.com".

Do you think we will see his name among the great DJs of the world this year?

And where will we see "DJ Sonic" after September 2020? What is the next goal of this successful and ambitious person?
