

Katie Melissa Leads People to Passive E-commerce Income

New York City, Sep 4, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - E-commerce has significantly grown into a billion-dollar industry over the past decade. More than ever, people turn to the digital space to conduct their buying and selling transactions. Among those who found success in the field is Katie Melissa. She has mastered the trade of generating income from home.

Katie Melissa has been one of Amazon's high volume sellers for over four years. Aside from that, she also made a reputation in other e-commerce platforms such as Shopify. Katie has comprehensive experience selling business models and strategies, including dropshipping, FBA, and private label. Her services have benefited clients across the globe. Katie also teaches individuals around the world how to achieve the same things she has in the field. Her discussions cover how to earn laptop-income through Amazon and Shopify.

To further her e-commerce empire, Katie Melissa is also managing Amazon Elite Automation. The business is home to a competent team of individuals who delivers hands-off results and passive income for clients. Statistics reveal that 53% of Amazon's sales are generated from third-party Amazon sellers. Amazon Elite Automation is among those who are taking the lead in providing exponential results to clients.

Amazon Elite Automation focuses on three key components. First, the team ensures that an Amazon store is ready to take on the market. They tackle areas to have it entirely prepared for successful automation, whether it's an established store or a brand new seller. The second component is the team's full-time management, where they monitor and scale an Amazon store to greater heights. "We have plenty of automation clients engaging six figures in revenue annually," Katie Melissa has noted.

Lastly, Amazon Elite Automation specializes in generating increasing amounts of revenue for the client. "The purpose of an Amazon Elite Automation business is to earn passive income without lifting a finger. This is what our team does for clients while ensuring a 10% to 25% profit margin," Katie Melissa said. "Clients can also choose to sell their stores a few years down the road once their value is realized. I recommend our clients wait until their store is valued over 7 figures."

Katie Melissa is motivated by her passion for helping clients achieve financial freedom through e-commerce. Over the years, Katie and her team at Amazon Elite Automation have transformed thousands of lives looking for a passive stream of income by making money online. Katie takes her clients' and students' interests at heart. In her e-commerce coaching program, Katie guarantees the same level of support for each student, regardless of whether they are a beginner or a long-time proponent in the industry.

"I wanted to create freedom for myself that a 9 to 5 won't allow. I was also motivated because when you create your own business, there is no ceiling," Katie Melissa said. The thought of breaking free from a monotonous office routine excites and inspires her to continue to grow and lead others who desire a similar lifestyle.

With e-commerce continually rising, Katie Melissa aims to expand her reach on a global scale. After all, the digital space is not confined to the country's borders alone. She wants to expand her business coaching and automation business to further horizons.
