Plastic surgery is a surgical specialty involving the restoration, reconstruction, or alteration of the human body. It can be divided into two main categories - reconstructive surgery and cosmetic surgery. A plastic surgeon's primary responsibility is performing surgical and non-surgical procedures, and they use a variety of reparative and reconstructive techniques to get the job done.

A firm believer in balancing the demands of a busy professional life with that of volunteer service, Dr.

Rosen was honored in the spring of 2005 for 10 years of dedicated service to Heal the Children, a charitable organization which helps children from around the world who need reconstructive surgery. The American Cancer Society of New Jersey, for which he served as Unit President, honored him for his efforts to help women in the fight against breast cancer.
