

Global Art Index has released their Art Price Index

New York City, Oct 5, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - We are delighted to announce the launch of Global Art Index.

With an enthusiastic team of art and tech lovers, Global Art Index will be offering over 8 million artworks by more than 500,000 artists. Global Art Index will also support artists, art writers, art critics and will be covering auctions, art exhibitions and other art events globally.

Global Art Index assures you that, we will do our best to serve you with the utmost care and share the latest data with you always.

Global Art Index will be beginning its journey with art by covering more than 8 million artworks by over 500,000 artists and would be multiplying the data within the next 6 months. Our progressive enterprise has a vision to have the largest data of all top art auctions ever collected or managed by any art company.

Under its umbrella, Global Art Index will be creating different sub-categories for art news, art editorials, art write ups, biographies of artists, mini websites (microsites) for artists, e-magazines, listing of popular artists and art works of different genres and many more upscaling features for promoting art. The website will also attribute art events and fairs of leading art galleries, art houses and museums ensuring important market alerts and enlisting price data base.

Global Art Index will empower their extension by joining partnership with their subscribers, implanting favorable plans and access to top quality data base.

Global Art Index has a dedicated team of tech experts, data scientists, big data analysts and art experts working tirelessly round-the-clock in different countries, collecting, analyzing and upgrading data within the system.
