

Hip Hop Artist Taino Tim's Musical Portray Of Modern-Day Socio-Economic Issues is Hard-Hitting

Hip hop Artist Taino Tim creates a flavorsome soundscape with some of the best and creative blends in the lyrical courses of his exquisite music arrangement.

Las Vegas, Oct 31, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Hip hop artist Taino Tim is sending out waves of social awareness with his exquisite lyrical and thematic content. Owing to the current socio-economic placement under the ruling government, he chose to release 16 singles in 8 weeks before the upcoming presidential elections. He utilizes his streaks of hip hop and rap to voice his opinions like in the song

'Civil War' in collaboration with Sigmund Freud and JGOTB. The song addresses the socio-economic states of the contemporary setting. His choice of themes and lyrics accurately portrays the modern world and allows the audiences to become more woke and awake in their surroundings.

Hailing from The Bronx in New York City, he is the current CEO of production label KISSOFRAP. His production and lyrical skills reflect the ongoing global crisis through which he expresses his art and creative freedom. Breaking stereotypes, he emerges as the voice against social and political wrongdoings in his songs. The song 'Global Warming' is yet another gem in his creative legacy that deepens his wisdom of production, arrangements, and environmental concerns. Representing life, its trials and tribulations, people of color, and more, his musical bag is a mix of important elements.

Hip-hop artist Taino Tim's other song 'The Corona Virus' with Sigmund Freud delivers the right proportions of disapproval against ongoing reluctance and injustice. His other singles like 'Poetry', 'Rig The Election', 'Driving in my Cadillac', and 'Poverty' are extensions of his mellifluous creative mind. Currently, he is working on a new album called every day is a Weekend set to release in January 2021. KISSOFRAP's debut production called Down to the Kore is also set to release in the spring of 2021 under Tim's creative guidance and will feature artists like Sigmund Freud, Big Prophecee, Bo$$Beats, and others.
