After the resounding success achieved in the UPSC Civil Services Examination (CSE) with 14 out of 20 top rankers in 2019, All top 10 Rankers in 2018 and Highest GS Marks three times and thousands of toppers, KSG India is in order to fulfill its commitment to facilitate and support aspirants from all over the country, conducting Webinars & Online Learning Programs to Facilitate & Support UPSC Civil Services Aspirants.

“With 450 selections 2018 and 430 Selections in 2019; KSG India has been adding more feathers in its cap since 2008. With the blend of powerful classroom and online courses, KSG India is committed to making many more success stories.”, says Dr. A. R. Khan.

A popularly known amongst the Civil Services aspirants as Khan Sir, is an accomplished educationist, academician, scholar, thinker and motivator.

“Early starters do get an edge in their preparation, and this has been proved multiple times. Tina Dabi (AIR- 1 2015), Srushti Jayant Deshmukh (AIR-5 2018), and many more joined KSG when they were doing their graduation. The courses are available for one year as well as in two-year modes.”, says Dr. A. R. Khan.

An avid reader and a prolific writer, Dr. Khan, has published scores of Articles and Research Papers in reputed National and International Journals. He has also authored several Books on varied topics, which have earned wide recognition

Because of social distancing, new mediums have come up to bridge the communication gaps, and KSG IAS, the premier Civil Services institute of the country was one of the first in the country to adopt online to cater to the demands of the students. Now under KSG online learning program (KOL), all the classes are given to thousands of students throughout the world (there are many Indians who are not living in India but are preparing), live from the state of art studio in Delhi. It is also giving fast, accurate and reliable information to all the aspirants, thereby solving the issues of infodemics.

One of the fundamental issues of online learning is that of effective engagement with the aspirants. The KSG India has solved this by having active mentors allotted to each student, who themselves call the students regularly for concepts clarification and to keep them on their toes. Every student has unique problems, and the mentors give them customized solutions.

Of course, the student can call the mentors whenever they have any queries. Every month more than 15 subjective tests are conducted. Students submit their subjective answers online, which, after getting evaluated, also gets vetted. This ensures that a student's copy is evaluated twice. After the evaluation, the copy is uploaded to the student's wallet. Students at KSG have been given their individual wallets to chart their own progress.

Out of the total youth in the world, every fifth resides in India. According to Census 2011, the youth constitute 28% of the total population in the country and have a contribution of over 34% in the country's national income.

This young population has to use modern means of communication, and the Internet is probably one of the most revolutionizing inventions. The Internet penetration rate in India went up to nearly around 50 percent in 2020, from just about four percent in 2007. No wonder today India has the second highest number of Internet users in the world.

The Internet lets a student sit in one place and explore the world. A lot of information is available online, but lack of accuracy and reliability is a major drawback.

That's why KSG India's faculty and a huge team of experts from various fields ensures Crisp and Concise Content in exam-oriented way must be available for the students because every exam is a specialized exam and has different syllabus and approach.

Social media has also become an essential source of information, and this has created issues. Social media is essential but should be used responsibly. One has to understand that surfing doesn't mean that you are preparing.

Life came to a standstill for the world in March this year. Due to the Covid-19 pandemic, a crisis came in front of the aspirants that they could not go out for the coaching classes or to get the study material. Even after unlocking, aspirants are still struggling to get things in place.

Access to quality education has become easier because of online classes as it has increased the ability of the institutions to reach a wider area. Now the aspirant has the liberty to stay at home and prepare for the exam making the preparation cost-effective and affordable. It also gives assignment convenience and flexibility.
