New York, Bronx, Feb 27, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - New Innovation By J N J Grocery LLC Allows Prison Inmates To Receive Groceries Amid COVID-19 Pandemic

Black-owned online grocery store, J N J Grocery LLC, extends its services and products to prison inmates as they intend to cater for all with the COVID-19 still very much around Tiffany Johnson and her team at J N J Grocery LLC are looking to help the millions of incarcerated people across the United States by introducing a unique, all-inclusive online a store that allows family members and friends to shop and ship orders to those who are incarcerated.

The United States has one of the highest rates of incarceration in the world. According to a report published by Statista in October 2020, about 1.43 million people were imprisoned in the United States in 2019, a significant increase compared to the 1.39 million recorded in the year 2000. One of the major concerns of different stakeholders, especially families of incarcerated persons is the state of America's prison food. Unfortunately, there are not too many solutions to cater to the needs of inmates in this regard, which is where Tiffany Johnson is looking to make a difference with J N J Grocery LLC.

The online grocery store was founded on March 14, 2020, amid the Covid-19 pandemic. Tiffany was inspired by the risk of sickness and death associated with the coronavirus, especially among people who are incarcerated and the need to improve the health of inmates. Tiffany started the company following her firsthand experience with having an imprisoned inmate as a family member suffering from medical illnesses such as Asthma, Diabetes.

The online shopping platform features a wide range of sealed items from trusted brand names, such as Perdue, Hillshire Farm, Sargento, and a host of others. The items are available in different packages are priced at relatively rates to ensure that shoppers do not have to break the bank to meet the feeding needs of their loved ones.

The launch of the grocery store for inmates is particularly timely, rescuing people from being at the mercy of the food served in prison or going to patronize a commissary that sells unhealthy food such as candy bars junk food.
