If you have been struggling with periodontal abscess and bleeding for a long time, periodontal treatment in Concord can help. Bacterial plaque is the most common cause of periodontal disease. If it's not removed, it can develop into tartar or calculus, which is tough to get rid of even through good dental hygiene.

Periodontal diseases can damage the soft tissue and bone supporting the tooth. If left untreated for long, they can even lead to a progressive deepening of gum pockets and tooth loss. Tooth loss can lead to discomfort, loss of chewing strength, bad breath, and other problems.

Periodontitis also increases the risk of getting a stroke, heart attack, respiratory problems, and other health issues. That is why acting upon the signs and symptoms of gum disease and other oral health problems is important. By getting professional oral care, you can get a healthy and beautiful smile that lasts for a lifetime. Put your mind at ease with diverse periodontal treatments at our top-notch dental clinic.

Periodontist Near Me

Teens, children, and adults need frequent professional teeth cleaning in the dentist's office. This will minimize the chance for dental decay to begin and prevent gum disease. Remember, periodontal disease is irreversible but controllable. Today, numerous successful periodontitis treatment options are available for advanced gum diseases. The primary aim of treatment is to flush out bacteria from the pockets and prevent further destruction in the mouth. Remember, gum disease treatment is essential for preserving teeth nearby and supporting overall health.

Our experienced specialists are experts in the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of every type of gum disease. The experienced dentists will probably start by inserting a periodontal probe to look for the periodontitis signs. The dentist will measure the extent of damage and advise suitable periodontal treatment.

Although adhering to good oral hygiene is part of periodontal treatment and prevention, dental experts may conduct periodontal surgery in some cases. For restoring your gum health, the dental professional may suggest bone grafting, scaling, and root planing, flap surgery, or pocket reduction.
