A 2000 graduate of Loyola University Chicago Stritch School of Medicine, Dr. Grudinkas Jr. went on to perform his residency in internal medicine at Rhode Island Hospital. He followed this up with an additional residency in anesthesiology at Brigham and Women's Hospital.

After completing his training, the doctor attained board certification in anesthesiology through the American Board of Anesthesiology (ABA). As the certifying body for anesthesiologists since 1938, the ABA is committed to partnering with physicians to advance the lifelong learning and exceptional patient care. Its mission is to advance the highest standards of the practice of anesthesiology.

Licensed to practice medicine in New Hampshire, Dr. Grudinkas Jr. is affiliated with Catholic Medical Center and Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center.

Anesthesiology is the medical specialty concerned with the total perioperative care of patients before, during, and after surgery. It encompasses anesthesia, intensive care medicine, critical emergency medicine, and pain medicine. Anesthesiologists have the primary responsibility of monitoring the patient's vital signs during surgery. In addition to basic measurements such as pulse, blood pressure, and temperature, they measure the patient's respiration.
