

Caribbean Actress and Speaker Jozanne Marie joins the daily news platform, "ERUPT"

Produced by Film and Broadway producer Edward Walson and ABC News Producer Brian Keinz

Speaker, Jozanne Marie cast on the non-partisan News and Debate App "Erupt". This new way of conversation to bring forth better communication in the world is produced by Film and Broadway producer Edward Walson and the amazing producer of ABC's Good Morning America, Brian Keinz. Erupt is aiming at audiences between ages 18-34 years old.

As a speaker, Ms. Marie brings class, poise, entertainment, beauty, and lots of knowledge when discussing social issues that are relevant to today's conversation. In a world so divided, we often feel bombarded by propaganda when it comes to news and hearing the real truth.

Having a non-partisan conversation is much needed in our time. No agendas. No motives are other than having a pure discussion on controversial topics and hopefully leads to changing the narrative in a promising world gearing towards justice, peace, and better humanity.

Without a doubt, Jozanne Marie on "Erupt" will bring change to a better tomorrow. The first topic she will speak on is "Changing the Face Of Theater." As an NAACP Award-winning actress for her solo play BEAUTIFUL premiered in LA and toured around the world, Jozanne Marie has used theater over the years to make a change in countless lives. The LA Times called her "Stunning and Powerful". After watching her performance, Life in LA says "this is how theater transcends simple entertainment and calls the play "a compelling, thought-provoking story" that "wonderfully exemplifies theater as a powerful tool for social change.

Tune in today by downloading the "Erupt" App and join in on this enlightening conversation at 1 pm. Moderated by Sydney Sainte. Follow them on Instagram @eruptnow or visit www.eruptnow.com
