Our Exclusive Question and answer session with

Shiv Kumar Deegwal

What makes you get out of bed in the morning i.e. source of motivation, He appraised that;

A fairly good question I would say that the mindset to achieve day by day and lead our company to new heights of success is what keeps me motivated. Motivation will come automatically from self-pressure to achieve your dream and resolution. In my opinion, the best source of motivation is setting your aims, chasing them, and achieving those goals with 100 % perfection.

How many hours a day do you spend on your work on average?

When I started my career, I worked in a BPO, and I was doing my own work too as computer assembling, making new computers that time I used to work 16-17 hours of work from Monday to Sunday. After starting my company, I think the average is still close, as there is still a lot of on wards. As an entrepreneur, I work for almost 8-9 hours in a day but in my mind is 24 hours, and yes as an entrepreneur you have to be ready for 24*7 so that your work goes on continuously.

How do you generate new ideas?

I don't think there is a process of creating new ideas. The idea is useless unless executed hence I love executing new ideas. First learn from your mistakes, launch it, and make it a super hit. A brilliant tip would be to do things in a hasty manner for generating new ideas.

What is the strategy that you believe has helped you to grow as a person?

I would say that first my family supported me very well then my sharp eye to identify opportunities, my interests and act swiftly upon them has been one of the major things which have helped me develop as a person.

What piece of advice would you give to newcomers who want to grow as an entrepreneur?

The only instructions would like to provide to the newcomers who wanted to become a successful entrepreneur is that “Come out of your Schools and college syllabuses - Explore the internet because Education is free nowadays. Take as much as you can! “. You should always remember that success does not come overnight. To this, I would also add that do not focus on money initially, rather go for value creation and creating something durable.
